Nothing is more important than finding the best medical care, whether it's for a sick child or for you. Where do you turn when you need a doctor? To referrals from friends and family ... their information is a goldmine.

DallasChild, FortWorthChild, NorthTexasChild and Thrive magazines are asking readers to share their recommendations for our "parent-to-parent" referral list. Those doctors and practitioners who have earned your trust and respect will be listed in special sections in the magazines throughout the year and on our website. Your recommendations will help us determine those exceptional professionals. Please consider how the doctor or healthcare professional deals with the patient in the following ways: ability to show empathy, listening and communication skills as well as how they instill trust and confidence.

Mom Approved Doctors will be a special section in which readers share their recommendations. This list does not imply endorsement by the magazines; it is a parent-to-parent list only.

These lists cannot be purchased by the healthcare professionals; they are only included in this list if they are recommended by you.

Note: We may publish selected comments about the doctors or healthcare providers. The comments will be edited for grammar and clarity only. First name and city will be used to identify you.
